Ceragon Selected as the Primary Wireless Backhaul Supplier for a Tier 1 US Operator

Initial orders for FibeAir IP-20 Platform of over $4 million received in Q4

Little Falls, New Jersey, October 20, 2016 - Ceragon Networks Ltd. (NASDAQ: CRNT), the #1 wireless backhaul specialist, today announced that a Tier 1 US operator selected Ceragon as its primary wireless backhaul supplier to support its network densification and optimization strategy. This strategy is aimed at improving subscriber experience and continually meeting the growing demand for capacity. Initial orders for the FibeAir IP-20 Platform of over $4 million have been received in Q4.

Ceragon's FibeAir IP-20 Platform, with its unique multicore technology, offers the operator a highly innovative, quick rollout with the scalability to increase capacity as its network expands and densifies over time. "We are delighted to partner with the operator to support its network strategy," said Ira Palti, president and CEO of Ceragon. "Our IP-20 Platform is highly deployed worldwide and is second-to-none in the industry in terms of generating value to our customers through its high capacity, field-proven reliability and its versatility for use in any deployment scenario. We look forward to a successful long term partnership."
